| Name: Period: |
|---------------|
|---------------|

Science Article Discussion

| Article Topic | Key Points | 3 Questions | Quality of Source (+/-) |
|---------------|------------|-------------|-------------------------|
|               | 1.         | 1.          |                         |
|               | 2.         | 2.          |                         |
|               |            | 3.          |                         |
|               | 1.         | 1.          |                         |
|               | 2.         | 2.          |                         |
|               |            | 3.          |                         |
|               | 1.         | 1.          |                         |
|               | 2.         | 2.          |                         |
|               |            | 3.          |                         |
|               | 1.         | 1.          |                         |
|               | 2.         | 2.          |                         |
|               |            | 3.          |                         |

| 1. | 1. |  |
|----|----|--|
| 2. | 2. |  |
|    | 3. |  |

Questions:

| 1. | Which article do you think deals with the most socially significant issue/topic? | Why do you think this |
|----|--|-----------------------|
|    | issue is significant?  |                       |

2. When we read, or discuss what others have read, questions are generated. Provide 2 questions that were generated by your discussion.

a)

b)

3. Provide two reasons there is value in presenting your article to others in the fashion you did today. Provide two reasons there is value in listening to the presentations of others.