School Bus Scheduling and Routing

It shall be the responsibility of the director of operations, in consultation with the transportation contractor, to make an annual study of bus routes in each local area to make a determination of the safest, shortest and most economical way to get students to and from school. Routes should be so arranged as to equalize the length and times of routes and bus loads. Bus routes should not overlap unless absolutely necessary; and only one bus should cover a road unless overloading occurs.

Students shall not be put off the bus until the student or the bus has reached its destination.
