Directions: Fill in the chart below based on the scenarios provided.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Scenario</th>
<th>Who is at fault?</th>
<th>What responsibility do you have?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Your friend is giving you a ride to school and arrives late to pick you. As a result, you are late for school.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You’re playing catch with a football. You throw a great pass, but your friend misses. The ball hits and injures a child.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You go way over your text message limit, but it’s because your friends keep texting you.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Your friend copies your homework, and you both get in trouble.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You open a strange e-mail, and a virus eats your mom’s computer.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

What responsibility does Ishmael have in his experience in the war? Explain.
Make a connection between one of these scenarios (or one of your own) to Ishmael’s responsibility. Use topic sentence that doesn’t summarize but directly makes claim how these two situations are similar. Use a specific quote from the text.

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________________________________